RE:IMAGINATION
Refuting the central point Refutation: Quotes a point of the argument and explains why it's mistaken Counterargument: Contradicts and backs it up with reasoning/supporting evidence (risk: strawman fallacy)
Contradiction: States the opposing case with little or no supporting evidence Responding to tone: Criticizes the tone of the writing Ad hominem: Attacks the characteristics or authority of the writer Stay in the top three sections of this pyramid.

Stepping outside of temporal boundaries
We have been here before tomorrow
And enjoyed it just the same
We have been laughing at the same jokes
And are still holding each other's grief
And maybe it takes more than mere words
But I have loved you the same way since inception
And will start again yesterday
Not because of prophecy or faith or will or destiny just because we have always started
tomorrow
And so it shall continue to be

JimWae and The Regressions of Excess Cookery
Fred Wordie - SI27 - 2025
Deep in the talk pages of Wikipedia, JimWae is fighting off hoards of opinionated Wikipedians as he tirelessly defends the Time article Introduction/Lede/Lead. Heckles get raised, time gets bent and code of conducts get broken in this 5 act Comedy Drama.
